Business Protection Specialists President to Serve ASIS International

RALEIGH, N.C. – Business Protection Specialists, Inc. today announced President, Frank Pisciotta, CSC, has been appointed by ASIS International to serve on its newly formed Risk Assessment Standards Technical Committee. ASIS International is the global leader as a professional organization for security experts. Their 38,000 worldwide members have contributed to the shaping and execution of most of the security innovations utilized by organizations today. Mr. Pisciotta is a member of ASIS International and already serves ASIS on the Agriculture and Food Defense Council since 2008.

The Risk Assessment Standards Technical Committee has been formed to update and improve the 2003 Risk Assessment Guideline. The ASIS International Guidelines Commission was established in early 2001 by ASIS in response to a concerted need for guidelines regarding security issues in the United States. As the preeminent organization for security professionals worldwide, ASIS has an important role to play in helping the private sector protect business and critical infrastructure from terrorist attacks. According to Susan Carioti, Director, Standards and Guidelines at ASIS “the standard will provide guidance on a generic process for risk assessments enabling repeatable, documented and objective identifications, analysis, and evaluation of risk to provide a foundation for information-based analysis of the efficacy of risk management response options, including controls that protect an organization’s assets.”

Frank Pisciotta, CSC is the vice president of the International Association of Professional Security Consultants (IAPSC). “I am honored to be included on this important Committee that will shape how risk assessments are conducted on critical infrastructure and organizational settings throughout the world.” As an independent consultant, Mr. Pisciotta has been conducting risk assessment for companies, municipalities, healthcare institutions and educational organizations for over 20 years. He founded Business Protection Specialists, Inc., a high-performance security management consultancy dedicated to helping organizations eliminate crime before it happens. The BPS team of experts features ASIS Board Certified security professionals and IAPSC-certified security consultants who provide objective recommendations for security protection and management, independent from security systems manufacturers. The company consults worldwide from corporate locations in Raleigh, NC, Canandaigua, NY, and Lakeville, MA.
